A saturated solution is where a solid is at a equilibrium with the solvent. For example salt, Salt in water dissolves. The point at which no more salt can dissolve within the water is a saturated solution. A unsaturated solution is just the opposite, where there is no more solid left but the solution can still dissolve more. (Full Answer)

A solution is said to be saturated which cannot dissolve any more of the substance that is mixed into it. So, when a saturated solution is kept in contact with any extra amount of solute it will not get dissolved. A solution is said to be unsaturated in which all the solute dissolves into the solvent and the solvent can be either liquid or gas.
