All I know about this swap is it will need a custom driveshaft, bellhousing, the gearshift is 6-8" furter back than the NV3500's, and obviously that it only works with 2wd, and that it should bolt in! I know its a big project but i cant resist a 6speed manual. I also have a RCSB 2004 Silverado 5speed (nv3500) 4x4 with a 4.8L.

I will never have a daily driver that is an automatic if I can help it. It is my strongly held personal belief that this mod is a requirement as it fixes the biggest flaw of the NBS Tahoe: an automatic transmission. I did an auto-to-manual swap on my last vehicle (2003 Toyota Tacoma) so this is just a natural progression of making this Tahoe to be MY TAHOE.
