HP makes four financial calculators, the 12C, the 20B, the 10Bii (another piece of junk) and the 17Bii. Three of these 4 calculators are OK but can be expensive to obtain for the power they provide. Over all, I strongly recommend the SHARP EL-733A financial calculator as the best option available (at least for a while) on the market!

Note: I'm not a finance professional. I work in IT, but occasionally need to do some financial work here and there. The Sharp EL-738 is an excellent financial calculator (and I've tried out quite a few lately). In a nutshell, you could say this is like a TI BA II Plus, but without the horrible keyboard response and missed keystrokes.

The description mentions Scientific, Financial and graphing and that is three very different things. It would be possible to have a Scientific calculator also have functionality as a Financial Calculator as pre-programmed shortcut buttons are the only real difference but I do not have a scientific calculator and that is what I intended to buy.
